

The Willow Creek Riparian Grove

(Resolution 5910, March 9, 1999)

This riparian grove contains several hundred trees and is composed primarily of cottonwoods (Populus fremontii) and willow trees (Salix sp.) with occasional scattered oaks. The grove extends from Oak Avenue Parkway to East Bidwell Street and lies between Blue Ravine Road and Creekside Drive. A meandering trail traverses through the grove, allowing visitors a small glimpse into the comings and goings of the wildlife that take refuge here.
