

The Bergst Tree

(Resolution 5486, October 12, 1997)

Nominated by Folsom resident Don Bergst in 1997, this imposing valley oak (Quercus lobata) towers above the surrounding canopy at Phillip C Cohn Park. Last measured at 70" in diameter, this giant is among the largest of its species and undoubtedly contributes to the City of Folsom's "Distinctive by Nature" adage. The City Arborist estimates this tree to be over 300 years old.