

MANAGEABLE MAINTENANCE

Is a no-maintenance landscape possible?

Not really, but we can get closer!

This workshop is for you if you are:

- Spending too much time and money caring for your landscape.
- Pruning that results in lackluster curb appeal, a weedy mess, failing trees, and plants.
- Trying to care for plants and an irrigation system that are unfamiliar.
- Noticing fewer birds, bees, and other garden life.

California's water-efficient landscapes require a fresh approach to their care. In this workshop, you'll learn:

- A less is more approach to avoid high maintenance and water waste.
- Do's and don'ts for selecting, placing, and caring for trees and plants.
- Tried and true maintenance practices, tools, and resources.
- Basics for creating healthy soil, managing weeds, and other common issues.

These practical actions can make maintenance manageable and give you an easy-care, appealing, make-every-drop-count landscape.
